

Dr. Ahmed Subhy Mansour: Dr. Ahmed Mansour is the President of the International Quranic Center in Virginia and a renowned Muslim scholar and reformer from Egypt. He worked for several decades advocating religious freedom and international human rights from within Islam. With the support of the Crapa Fellowship, his research will focus on highlighting progressive Islamic thinking, based on Islamic holy texts, culture, and history as well as informing U.S. foreign policy on how to counter religious extremism.