

By Mark Kelly

<http://www.sbcbaptistpress.org/BPnews.asp?ID=34506>

Nina Shea, a member of the U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom, appeared before Congress' Tom Lantos Human Rights Commission less than a week after an Egyptian court handed down a death sentence to a man convicted in a January 2010 attack in which six Christians and a Muslim guard were killed in the city of Nag Hamadi.