

http://www.rferl.org/content/us_commission_lists_egypt_among_worst_religious-freedom_offenders/16797663.html

A U.S. government commission has recommended that Egypt be placed on a list of the "worst of the worst" countries for religious freedom, for its record of increasing attacks on Christians and a culture of impunity.

The

U.S. Commission on Religious Freedom

made the recommendation on April 28 to the Obama administration via its annual report, which it wrote after researching conditions for religious freedom in 28 countries.